

Without being too rude, I believe that the Republicans are way more hypocritical.

user1

Well I think both sides of the aisle have shown themselves to be quite hypocritical over the past few decades...

user2

That being said, I agree. The Republicans have taken their hypocrisy to a whole other level

user2

That is very true! I wish I could say that Democrats are perfect haha.

Unfortunately...

user1

How are you feeling about some of the issues today?

user1

The BLM protests in 2020 were like 99% peaceful, but they love to crap all over that movement

user2

That is absolutely true, I hated reading about that.

user1

But then they literally storm the capitol building in D.C. attacking and in some cases killing capitol police, and it's crickets from all of them

user2

Anyway, I'm feeling pretty cynical about the issues of today...

user2

Agreed!! I couldn't believe they actually found feces in the White House, how horrible can our society get??

user1

I think you're right to be cynical!

user1

Just kinda feels like nothing is ever accomplished that actually helps normal people

user2

We just constantly kick cans down the road and put problems off until they're literally in our face causing problems

user2

Exactly! I've been hearing about the minimum wage increase, but it's mostly millionaire politicians saying that it's bad for the working class. Like they've ever been in our position.

user1

Well, some of them may have... but mostly not.

user1

Yeah that's another super annoying talking point. It's always 'well that will hurt small businesses, we can't raise the minimum wage!'.

user2

And yet time and time again studies have shown raising the minimum wage has no immediate effect on the local economy

user2

Another thing Republicans are very hypocritical on is abortion

user2

Definitely agreed! I'm so angry over that issue right now.

user1

They're all about limited government and freedom

user2

True, very true. I wish something would change for the better, but I've been wishing that for years lol.

user1

But as soon as a woman wants to have control over her OWN body, then they're all for Uncle Sam stepping in

user2

Ridiculousness. My Mom told me about my great-grandma who had to have an illegal abortion and bled to death shortly after. She had had a ton of kids and just couldn't do it any longer.

user1

That's just terrible, I

user2

I'm so sorry

user2

And unfortunately that's gonna continue to happen if Roe v Wade is codified into law

user2

I just hope things work out better and no one has to go through that. It's kind of scary that we're scaling back on these freedoms.

user1

Horrible stuff.

user1